1. The calculation of air pollutants takes reference from emission factors in “EMEP/EEA air pollutant emission inventory guidebook 2019 — Update Oct. 2020” issued by the European Environment Agency (“EEA”).

The discussions on climate change have sparked heated debate across the globe in recent years and initiated different actions in an attempt to tackle the impact triggered. As a global citizen, the Group is enthusiastically combating climate change and places high emphasis on environmental sustainability. The Group’s greenhouse gas emissions are mainly generated from office and warehouse operations, and can be classified into three different scopes: scope 1 — direct emissions from combustion of fuels in vehicles; scope 2 — energy indirect emissions from purchased electricity and heating; and scope 3 — other indirect emissions from business air travel, fresh water and sewage treatment, and methane gas generated at landfills due to disposal of paper waste.

2. This is calculated based on the emission factors in "EMEP/EEA air pollutant emission inventory guidebook 2019 — Update Oct. 2020" issued by EEA.
3. This is calculated with reference to the emission factors provided by the United States Environmental Protection Agency and the Energy Market Authority ("EMA") of Singapore.

4.5 Emissions Mitigation and Resources Conservation

The Group is highly aware of its impact on the environment, and thus has taken a handful of measures to mitigate the emissions from different sources, subsequently reducing the Group's potential impacts on the environment.

Within the confinements of daily operations in offices and warehouses, several measures had been applied in hopes to reduce emissions. For instance, to reduce paper waste, employees are encouraged to reuse paper, use both sides of the paper whenever possible, and use electronic greeting cards during the holiday season. In addition, printers are monitored regularly and printing quotas are set to lower the amount of paper used and wasted. As for other office waste, the Group encourages the reuse and recycling of envelopes, filing folders, cards and stationery (i.e., refills pen barrels instead of discarding the entire pen). Last but not least, printer toners and ink cartridges are reused and recycled whenever possible to reduce hazardous waste.

The Group conducts regular inspections of taps and pipes conditions within offices and warehouses comprehensively. All leaks and drips are fixed to prevent further water waste.

Electrical appliances including lighting systems, air conditioning systems and computers are required to be switched off or put into sleep mode when not in use to reduce energy consumption. As a supporting measure, energy efficient lighting, including T5 fluorescent lamps and LED lamps, are installed to reduce the use of energy. In addition, the Group has light switches for different zones to control usage, installed motion sensors in not frequently used areas, and installed dimmers to adjust light intensity.

As for commuting and business travelling, employees are encouraged to use public transportation instead of private vehicles to alleviate traffic congestion as well as to reduce employees' carbon footprint. Video conferencing for online presentations and conferences are prioritised over avoidable overseas business travels, and if business trips are necessary, direct flights are preferred over flights with multiple intermediate stops.

The growing environmental and climate-related awareness among the public is forcing a transition to a more sustainable and environmentally-friendly lifestyle. This in turn, may lead to a change in customer preferences in different sectors. The Group may be affected by decreased demand for the Group's products, if the Group is unable to timely fulfill consumers' shifting preferences.

The Group is also concerned that its operations may be impacted by the risk of increased severity and frequency of extreme weather events as a result of climate change, for instance, the delivery schedule might be delayed during heavy rainfalls/snows and typhoons. The criteria for furniture procurement covers seven major aspects, including (i) the design capability of the vendor; (ii) production lead-times; (iii) scale of the factory; (iv) production facilities; (v) product pricing; (vi) after-sales service; and (vii) quality of products. In addition, in order to evaluate each new vendor, the Group conducts background search, factory visits and quality inspection visits to ensure new vendors could meet the requirements imposed by the Group. The Group evaluates suppliers' product quality, delivery, production capacity, compliance and other factors during the supplier selection process. Only suppliers that meet the criteria may be added to the list of qualified suppliers, and aspects such as health and safety performance, turnover rates, and stability are all considered when selecting suppliers.

To ensure that the vendors are able to maintain their quality and high standard, the Group's procurement teams will review the performance of each vendor on an annual basis, focusing on the vendors' promptness of delivery and quality of products. Any vendor that consistently fails to deliver promptly and/or delivers products with defects will be flagged to management for further action.

For the Group's interior design division, the objective of the procurement policies is to ensure that the gross profit margins set out in the Group's pricing policy are maintained. Different procurement policies have been set up based on the different materials utilised by each interior design division. Furthermore, the procurement of services is an integral part of the interior design business, therefore interior design departments will assess their subcontractors annually on their pricing, quality of work and their ability to meet deadlines. Any subcontractor that fails to meet these standards shall be flagged to management for further action.

ENVIRONMENTAL, SOCIAL AND GOVERNANCE REPORT 2022

Beyond quality and legal compliance, the Group also attaches great importance to the environmental and social risks that suppliers may pose to the Group's supply chain. Subsequently, the Group expects its suppliers to adopt fair labour practices, and demonstrate environmental stewardship and social influence. The Group requests its suppliers to provide environmental and social compliance reports regularly, such as the Sedex Members Ethical Trade Audit Reports ("SMETA") assessed and issued by Sedex Information Exchange Limited. Such reports assess and analyse the environmental and social compliance of our suppliers, as well as the risks involved. As such, the Group prioritises suppliers with good performances in the report and looks to mitigate the environmental and social risks along its supply chain. Suppliers should ensure that they are free from child labour and forced labour, and that all employees are legally qualified to work.

During the Year, the Group has a total of 516 suppliers from different regions, with the major suppliers coming from Singapore, followed by China and Italy.

Therefore, the Group strictly abides by laws and regulations regarding quality control of products, especially in product safety, including but not limited to the Consumer Protection (Consumer Goods Safety Requirements) Regulations 2011 of Singapore, Consumer Product Safety Act 1972 in the U.S., and the applicable laws and regulations in Malaysia. To minimise the occurrence of delivering defective products to customers and in turn affecting the Group's reputation in the market, the Group has formulated and implemented a Quality Control Policy, stating the key procedures in the quality control process of both furniture sales and interior design. The Group products are tested before launch, monitor and track customer feedback and act swiftly to address potential product quality or safety issues.

For its furniture sales divisions and e-commerce furniture sales division, depending on the origin of the products, the Group conducts different types of quality inspection on the product, ranging from packaging inspection to a full extent inspection.
